

Media Release

Albany Electric Vehicle topping up at Mount Barker

The ladies from the City of Albany facilitating the Age Friendly Charter meeting at the Shire offices on Thursday 11 April made the trip in a City owned electric vehicle.

Residents of Plantagenet may not be aware that the Council installed an electric vehicle charging station over two years ago to charge a hybrid electric vehicle that the Council had at the time.

With the Council's array of photovoltaic cells, the return trip to Albany would have been without any emissions and free from the sun.

A word of warning though. Don't pull up to the Council charging station with a completely flat battery. At only 15 amps, the charging station is really only suitable for a top up.

